NEED VS. MERIT

Financial aid can be based on multiple factors, including need and merit.

- Need-based aid is based on a student's financial need. For example, a need-based grant might be awarded based on a student's low income.
- Merit-based aid is based on a student's skill or ability. For example, a merit-based scholarship might be awarded based on a student's high grades.

Financial aid, whether need-based or merit-based, will usually be sent directly to your college and applied directly to your student account.

FEDERAL STUDENT AID

The U.S. Department of Education provides various financial assistance programs to help students and their families pay for college. To be eligible for Federal Student Aid programs, you must complete the FAFSA each year. Final eligibility is determined by the college you attend.

Federal student aid eligibility requirements:

Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education Grant (TEACH)

The TEACH Grant program provides grants to students who intend to teach in high-need fields, or other identified teacher shortage areas approved by the U.S. Department of Education. A TEACH Grant is different from other federal student grants because it requires you to agree to complete a teaching service obligation as a condition for receiving the grant, and if you don't complete the service obligation, the TEACH Grant will convert to a loan that you must repay with interest. For more information, visit <https://studentaid.gov/understand-aid/types/grants/teach>

Eligibility requirements:

- Meet basic student aid eligibility requirements.

- Be enrolled as an undergraduate, post baccalaureate, or graduate student at a school that participates in the TEACH Grant program.
- Be enrolled in a TEACH-Grant-eligible program.
- Meet certain academic achievement requirements, generally scoring above the 75th percentile on one or more portions of a college admissions test or maintaining a cumulative GPA of at least 3.25.
- Receive TEACH Grant counseling that explains the terms and conditions of the TEACH Grant service obligation. You must complete counseling each year that you receive a TEACH Grant.
- Sign a TEACH Grant Agreement to Serve or Repay.

Award amounts:

- For grants first disbursed on or after Oct. 1, 2023, and before Oct. 1, 2024, you can receive a maximum of $3,772.

- Serve as a full-time highly-qualified teacher for four elementary or secondary school years at a school or educational service agency that serves low-income students
- Teach in a high-need field

Note: If you do not meet the requirements of your service obligation, all TEACH Grants you received will be converted to Direct Unsubsidized Loans. You must repay these loans in full, with interest charged from the date of each TEACH Grant disbursement.

SEEK OUT SCHOLARSHIPS

Most scholarships are awarded based on various achievements, while others are awarded to specific groups of students. Scholarships vary in amount, from one-time awards of a few hundred dollars to covering full tuition worth thousands of dollars.

Every scholarship you receive will help reduce the cost of your education, so it is important to start looking early and apply for as many as possible. Scholarships can also be renewable or specific to current college students. Continue searching for scholarships throughout your college career.

Finding scholarships

Scholarships are offered by thousands of local, regional, and national organizations — you just have to find them. You can learn about scholarship opportunities by:

- Talking with your high school counselor.
- Contacting the financial aid office at the college you plan to attend.
- Searching online — popular sites include: myscholarshipcentral.org, fastweb.com, myscholly.com, bigfuture.collegeboard.org, and collegescholarships.org.
- Checking with local businesses, community and civic groups, and religious organizations.

Scholarship Scams

Be aware of scholarship scams. Do not provide credit card information to use a free scholarship search. Be sure to read the fine print before providing too much information, as some companies may send you unwanted information about other services they offer or sell your information. Visit studentaid.gov/resources/scams for more information about scholarship scams.

Find more information about scholarship opportunities by following Journey to College on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. Sign up to receive the Journey to College Monthly Reminder, an email containing information about scholarships and other college tips and deadlines at <https://journeytocollege.mo.gov/connect/monthly-reminder>.

Applying for scholarships

Usually, you will need to complete and submit an application, highlight your personal and academic achievements, and provide letters of recommendation. Many scholarship applications also require you to write an essay.

Applying for scholarships is similar to applying to college. Be sure to check the eligibility requirements before spending the time to apply. Once you have determined you are eligible, read the application carefully, fill it out completely, and meet the application deadline.

THINGS TO CONSIDER ABOUT STUDENT LOANS

In order to be a responsible borrower, be sure to:

Keep track of how much you are borrowing.

Think about how the amount of money you borrow will affect your future finances, and how much you can afford to repay.

Research starting salaries in your field of study.

It is important to be realistic about your future salary so you can determine if that salary will be sufficient to cover all your future expenses, including your student loan payments.

Understand the terms of your loan and keep copies of your loan documents.

By signing your Master Promissory Note, you agree to repay the loan according to the terms of the note, even if you do not complete your education, cannot get a job, or you did not like the education you received. Make sure you talk to your financial aid office anytime you have questions about your student loans.

Make payments on time.

It is your responsibility to make on-time payments, even if you do not receive a bill. Making full payments is also important in order to fulfill your obligation to repay your loan on time.

Keep in touch with your loan servicer.

Communicating with your loan servicer will ensure you are aware of your responsibilities. You should notify your servicer when you graduate; drop below half-time status; transfer to another school; or change your name, address, or other contact information.

Keep track of your student loans at studentaid.gov during college and throughout repayment.

You don't need to take out the full amount of a loan offered to you, only the amount that you currently owe.

REPAYING STUDENT LOANS

Although college can be expensive, your goal should be to limit the amount of student loans you have to borrow — and eventually pay back.

When you receive a student loan, you agree to repay the loan even if you do not graduate, are unable to find employment, or are not satisfied with your education. Your student loans cannot be canceled because you did not get the education or job you expected.

You will start repaying your federal direct loans after a six-month grace period. This means your first student loan payment will be due six months from the time you graduate, drop below half-time enrollment, or stop attending college, whether you graduate or not.

Payment options

There are several options for repaying your federal student loans.

You should be informed of your repayment terms and options by your loan servicer before you begin repayment. Your account will be placed on the standard repayment plan unless you request a different option from your loan servicer.

Did you know?

There are no penalties for making payments on your student loans before they officially go into repayment or paying a little extra each month. You can also make payments on the loan's interest while you're still in college. This can help reduce the total interest you pay and the total cost of your loan.

Learn about student loan repayment options at studentaid.gov. If you are having trouble making payments under the standard repayment plan, you can discuss other repayment plans with your loan servicer to determine the best option for you. In some circumstances, students may be able to temporarily postpone or reduce loan payments through deferment or forbearance.

If you do not make your monthly payments, you will become delinquent on your student loan. If you are delinquent more than 270 days, you will be considered in default and could face serious financial consequences. Learn more about avoiding default at <https://journeytocollege.mo.gov/pay/student-loans/avoid-default/>.

HOMELESS AND FOSTERED YOUTH

Extra financial assistance and other resources are available for students who have been in foster care or are considered homeless. If you fall into one of those categories, keep these tips in mind as you plan for college and work toward earning a certificate or degree:

- Every Missouri school district has a designated liaison to help homeless students access higher education. Your high school counselor can help you find your liaison to access free support and services. Most college campuses offer practical resources to help you succeed. Find the Student Affairs office on your campus to find out what services are available. Ask about holiday hours, food pantries, emergency funds, work-study programs, and free tutoring.
- You may be eligible for exam fee waivers or tuition waivers. Talk to your high school counselor or the college admissions department to see if you qualify.
- There are scholarships and grants designed with you in mind! Foster youth can take advantage of the Education and Training Voucher (ETV) program, which provides up to $5,000 per year for college and vocational training.
- The MO Reach Tuition Waiver and Missouri Credential Completion and Employment (CCE) programs also provide tuition waivers and assistance in obtaining a credential. Visit <https://dss.mo.gov/cd/older-youth-program/education.htm> to apply for all three programs.
